Autism Awareness Centre Celebrates 17 Years

June 2020 marks Autism Awareness Centre's 17th anniversary. When I co-founded this company in 2003, my children were 4 and 6 years old. I was only four years in to the autism journey. Today my children are 21 and 23, young adults. This year's celebration feels very different in the wake of COVID-19. Much of the world has changed; we're facing new challenges and an uncertain future at the moment. For us, it's difficult to plan our coming 2020-2021 season because government directives change weekly and national and international travel are largely suspended. Conferences take a year of planning to organize; we'll adapt to the changes as best we can.

Independent Living with Autism: Your Roadmap to Success

Author: Wendela Whitcomb Marsh

Price: $27.95

Independent Living with Autism is a guide for young adults with autism leaving the shelter of school and looking for guidance in the important tasks of adult life. It is also for the more mature adult who has long struggled with the feeling different from the rest of the world, misunderstanding social cues and being misunderstood, who is finally diagnosed with (or suspects) an autism spectrum disorder. This book will help ASD adults find practical, easy to follow guidance in the most important aspects of successful adult life.
